WELLSBORO NEWS.

—The Red Cross school entertainment last Friday evening was one of the best home talent affairs ever given in Covington. The school children did unusually well, and the music was simply "out of sight." The singers, Messrs. Marvin, Sharp, Fessler, Johnson, Knowlton and Sisson, Mesdames Anderson, Emberger, Knowlton, Johnson, Richards and Longstreet, and Misses Blair and Ripley, are all artists, and their execution was great. The orchestra, consisting of Messrs. Marvin, Sharp, Knowlton and Sisson, and Mesdames Richards, Anderson and Longstreet, made most excellent music. In fact it suited our most fastidious ear to a T. Much of the success of this most pleasing entertainment is due to Mrs. Florence McInroy (of Wellsboro) a young lady of natural executive ability. Mrs. McInroy has no superior, and few equals, when it comes to doing things and doing them right.—Covington Sun.

—An Elmira mother hailed a boy lustily calling, "Extra, Extra," on Saturday. She bought a paper, and read the head lines, "German Forces Have Broken Through British Lines at St. Quentin." Then she carefully read all that the dispatches from the front told of the struggle "over there." Folding the paper, she turned to the young man standing by her side and said with all the earnestness of her soul: "My son, I do not care how soon you enlist." That's America to-day. America has been awakened as never before in this war. Everywhere is the quickening seen. That "seventy-mile gun" of the Germans had a much longer range than Paris. It reached the United States. Congress now is anxious to put speedily through all legislation pertaining to the war. All through the nation is seen the same great impetus. America has put aside everything for war. Let the Hun beware.—Elmira Star-Gazette.

—Either intentionally or otherwise a cruel hoax was perpetrated upon thousands of persons residing along the lines of the Pennsylvania division of the New York Central Sunday afternoon and evening when some person whose identity is at present unknown sent a telegraph message over the railroad wires to the effect that the German army had met with great reverses in France and that British and French troops in a counter-drive had cut off and captured over 100,000 Germans. The story grew in the elaborateness of its details as it was repeated by word of mouth, or repeated over the telegraph and telephones wires to parts remote from its starting place. The number of prisoners captured grew up to 175,000 according to some stories, and the American troops in France were given the credit of making the capture. This is not the first time that wild and unfounded reports have been accredited to the "railroad wires." If the Central has some fool in its employ who starts this misinformation on the wires for the sake of seeing how much excitement he can stir up it would be well for the company to hunt him out and dispense with his services. Local Central employes report that the message as it was received here purported to be from Syracuse and that its contents were represented as the substance of an Associated Press dispatch.—Corning Leader.

Resolutions.

Charleston Union Grange, No. 1,017, in regular session March 19, 1918.

Whereas, it has pleased our Heavenly Father to remove from among us Sister Rachel Ely, we meekly submit to the will of Him who doeth all things well. Therefore, be it

Resolved, that in justice to her memory it is but due to say that she was honored and respected by all who knew her. Her regard for the principles and truth of Christianity was manifested in her every day life. Her devotion at home and Sabbath school was emphasized in her dying hour. As the Saviour was willing to die for the redemption of fallen humanity, so was she willing to die that others through her death might be brought to Christ. Her dying message will forever remain indelibly stamped upon our memory and while we miss her and mourn for the departed one, we are thankful that we can look up through our tears and say, it is God's way, His will be done.

Resolved, that Charleston Union Grange, No. 1,017, extend to the bereaved father, mother and brother our heartfelt sympathy in this sad hour. Be it further

Resolved, that our charter be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days and that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the records of our Grange, one to the bereaved family, also one to the Wellsboro Agitator. L. H. Bailey, B. Dwight Austin, Committee.
